'NESTING MATERIALS, LTD. Mr. & Mrs. Boss-Walker were 'at home' to the strong-billed honeyeaters and to us just after Christmas. We wondered what the purpose was of a rabbit skin hung near the bird table. We found that it was being well patronised by the birds for nesting materials, even at this season, and that a fur coat hung near by was already stripped of half of its fur. Mr. Boss-Walker says that he prefers to provide this sort of material rather than risk losing any more of his own hair. There must be no half measures if you're a bird lover.

EASTER CAMP 1962.

At Plunkett Point, Saltwater River. April 20th - 25th.

The Camp Committee has selected Plunkett Point, Saltwater River, for this year's camp. Two of our most successful camps have been held on this site in recent years. The extensive and interesting area, which has a particularly mild climate, is rich in relics of the State's early history, and the campsite is ideally situated on the waterfront at the extremity of the Point.

Much is involved in making arrangements, placing orders for stores and engaging camp staff. Therefore, members will doubtless recognise the urgency of making bookings with Mr. H. F. Sargison, 21 Elizabeth St., Hobart, accompanied by a deposit towards camp fees and transport.

Owing to the coincidence of Easter with Anzac Day it has been decided that the camp will cover six days - from April 20th to 25th inclusive - an opportunity which will rarely occur.

Camp Fees (payable in advance) are :-

Adults	£7. -.
School children (over 12)	5. 5. -.
" " (under 12)	3.15. -.

Children must be in the charge of an adult.

The Club usually relies on a small team of willing workers to get the camp ready but would appreciate more workers in the advance party, and therefore hopes other members this year may be able to accompany this party. Intending advance party members should advise Mr. Sargison as soon as possible.

Dates and times.

Friday, April 13th (from 2 p.m. on) Hands wanted to commence loading equipment on the lorry.
Saturday, April 14th (8 a.m.) Hands wanted to complete loading of lorry, after which advance party leaves for Plunkett Pt.
Thursday, April 19th, 7 p.m. Main Party leaves by bus for Plunkett Pt. (Assemble at Franklin Square 15 minutes beforehand)
Camp should be reached by approx. 10.30 p.m.
Wednesday, April 25th Camp ends; depart for Hobart approx. 2.30 p.m.

Heavy baggage (suitcases, rucksacks, blankets, camp beds) must be delivered to 33 Mortimer Av., New Town, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, APRIL 12th. This must be labelled with owner's name, and also "Field Naturalists Camp". Tie labels on strongly. Light luggage (toilet gear etc.) may be brought by bus on the Thursday night.

DON'T FORGET THE DATES AND THE NECESSITY FOR EARLY BOOKING AT MR. SARGISON'S SHOP.

H. K. AVES,

HON. SECRETARY.

THE NEXT GENERAL MEETING of the Club will be held on Thursday, 21st, June 21st at 3p.m. in the Royal Society Room, Tasmanian Museum, Argyle Street. Mr. John Chick will show the coloured slides and speak on the Caverneering Club's outings.

FIELD OUTINGS: On Saturday, 26th May, the excursion will be to National Park. Prince of Wales Theatre at 9 a.m. Members please make your car available, as the success of the trip will depend on the transport.

On Saturday, 16th June, Mr Hewer will lead a walk to Rocky Whelan's Cave. Catch 10.02 a.m. bus to Dynnyrne from Franklin Square. Bring a torch.

NATIVE PLANTS: Mr R.M. Smith has again invited Club members to take up to 40 of his young native plants which he propagates for his own pleasure. He makes no charge for these but he likes to hear occasionally of their progress. If you are interested, please phone Mr Smith at 128 Mt Nelson Road where he is usually at home at the week-end. It would help if you could supply him with used cans in which he can propagate the plants. Phone 52168.

OBSERVATIONS FROM S.S. PATRIS: In a letter to Mrs Elliott, Miss Della Mosey writes: Not far from Suez as we went through the Canal, I saw egrets in two irrigated gardens on the Nile side.. and amongst the sand dunes there were curlew and many waders, great flocks of them; and as we disturbed them, they flew in great flocks, weaving to and fro, disappearing against the background in one moment, then as they turned, the dark backs brought them clearly into view again. A thrilling sight. Gulls, terns, fork-tailed kites.

The first tremendous thrill was the sight of the 3000ft, snow-covered mountains of Crete...they seemed to hang above the sea and above some near headlands, the distant shore being lost beneath the horizon; then the other lovely islands in the Aegean Sea, then Piraeus and Athens...Oh, the glories of Athens!

BIRD NOTES FROM MR H. BOSS-WALKER: The usual bird visitors at St. Chad were alarmed in February by an unusual visitor to their garden. this was identified by its colour and actions – backed up by the reaction of the honeyeaters – as a White Goshawk. This is said to be a fixed albino form of the Grey Goshawk of the mainland states, and it was interesting to find one so near to Hobart.

APRIL BIRD NOTES from Mrs. Kathleen Orme: "I am thrilled to have visits to my bird tables for the past four or five weeks (since my red gum blossomed) of a pair of Rainbow Lorikeets, and what I think is one of their young. It has not got the brilliant colour of the larger birds but appears to be getting bluer on its head, and the orange shoulder feathers are beginning to show. It is shyer than the adult birds, who are really cheeky, and look through the sun room window at me."

THE RAINBOW LORIKEET is a very uncommon visitor to Tasmania, and is one of the most handsome of the parrots. It travels in small flocks, wandering through the bush and occasionally coming into gardens in search of flowering trees, the nectar from which forms part of its diet. (Michael Sharland)

ITEMS OF INTEREST:

During the period from the 1st. November, 1907, to March the 5th, 1908, an Englishman by the name of Geoffrey Smith was staying in Tasmania; his book "A Naturalist in Tasmania" is well known to many of our members. He was unfortunately killed in action on the 10th July, 1915. A memorial volume consisting of his letters to his home in England during his trip abroad, was published in 1917; an extract from one of these letters written at the Springs Hotel, Mt. Wellington, 20th November 1907, is given here:

"About a week ago I had a splendid three days' camping with the field Naturalists' Club of Hobart. A Mr. Rodway took me, who is a very good botanist, and knows the bush very well; he is going to come out with me again soon, but he cannot get away very easily as he is a dentist by profession. He taught me a lot of things, as how to pitch a tent, and cook a bush dinner, and even how to kill a snake, all of which are equally interesting and necessary accomplishments in this country. What I have seen of the Tasmanian bush has impressed me very much; of course it is just the right time of year, as the eucalyptus trees of all sorts which form the main part of the bush are throwing out their shoots, which are reddish brown, and all the flowering shrubs, of which there are such heaps here, are all in flower. This afternoon I got into a bit of dense bush on the side of the mountain, and I have never seen such a wild confusion of growth, enormous tree ferns growing out of masses of fallen and decayed timber, and one had to simply fight one's way through every yard. The birds here are very pretty, and some of them have very characteristic calls, but not much song. The parakeets and parrots are of course especially gay, but some of the smaller flycatchers and honey suckers have lovely plumage, and they seem much tamer than birds in England, and quite glad to show themselves off."

ITEMS OF INTEREST:

A letter written by G. Smith to his mother on December 3rd., 1907.

" Since writing last I have been several expeditions, first up into the Harz Mountains to take some tins with trout fry in them to put down in the small lakes on the top. We went by steamer to a place called Geeveston, where various families by the name of Geeves carry on a timber trade. It is the great place to see huge eucalyptus trees. We started early in the morning from the village, and took a steam trolley used for carting timber about some way up the valley, and then struck on to a track that leads up to the mountains. We took about six men with us to carry the tins with the fish. It took us seven hours to reach the hut near the lakes where we intended spending the night, and as we were caught in a thunder storm we were pretty well drenched. We were rather staggered to find the hut completely filled with a party of people who had come up from the other side, a general stores keeper who was giving all his employees a holiday, including several girls. However, we managed to shake down somehow, about fifteen of us all sitting round a large log fire in a tiny room about six yards square, and cooking chops on the ends of sticks.

"After exploring the lakes, in which I did a little collecting, we came back to the hut for tea, another squash, and after tea we had a wonderful impromptu concert, singing chiefly hymns out of a Salvation Army hymn book, which one of the girls had. It was a remarkable experience, but after the fatigues of the day I slept like anything in my wet clothes on a straw bunk and took no harm at all.

"The next day was fairly fine, and we returned to Geeveston in the afternoon. The track through the forest was very beautiful, huge eucalyptus trees and the most lovely flowering shrubs and tree ferns growing in great luxuriance. Since returning I spent some days in Hobart, and gave a popular lecture on Natural History at the Masonic Hall, which went off rather successfully, and now I have come back on to the mountain here to go on with my work. Yesterday Mr. Rodway came up, and we went for a splendid walk over the top of the mountain to a river on the other side, which is quite full of my shrimp. It is a beautiful river, rather like one in the lakes at home, with large clear pools, in which one could bathe easily. I brought back a lot of shrimps, which I am trying to domesticate in a series of footbaths here."

APROPOS TO LADY SECRETARY: When the first two ladies were elected to the Tasmanian Field Naturalists Club in February, 1905, many people shuddered at this intrusion in a gentleman's domain. I wonder how many shuddered when the first lady secretary was elected in 1962.

I would like to pay a tribute to Mrs. F. Green who has been an active member since February, 1910. Also Mrs. P.H. Scott, who has been a member since 1913. Both these ladies attended the November meeting which was quite a memorable one as Dr. E.A. Elliott, the only surviving original member, gave a short talk on the preservation of sanctuaries in Tasmania.

Dr. Guiler gave a talk illustrated by slides on the work done by the Animal and Birds Protection Board in Tasmania.

I would like to extend a welcome to all new members over the past year, and wish them and all members a Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year.
